

Grant Writing Tips

Here are 10 grant writing tips for artists and arts organizations in Toronto, combining general best practices with insights specific to the local funding landscape:

1. Understand the Grant Requirements

Carefully read the guidelines provided by funding bodies like the Ontario Arts Council or Toronto Arts Council. Ensure your project aligns with the goals and focus areas outlined by the grant.

2. Tailor Each Application

Customize each proposal to reflect the specific objectives and criteria of the grant. Avoid using a one-size-fits-all approach. Answer the question as best as possible.

3. Present a Clear Artistic Vision

Clearly articulate your project's artistic goals, its potential impact on the community, and why it matters to the broader cultural landscape.

4. Be Specific About Outcomes

Use concrete details about how the grant will help you achieve your goals. Mention measurable outcomes such as audience size, community engagement, or project milestones.

5. Show Financial Responsibility

Provide a detailed, realistic budget that demonstrates how the funds will be used. Funders want to see responsible financial planning.

6. Highlight Past Successes

Showcase previous successful projects or collaborations, emphasizing any community impact or recognition your work has received.

7. Get Letters of Support

Including letters of support from collaborators, local organizations, or community leaders can strengthen your proposal by showing broader backing.

8. Demonstrate Community Engagement

Funders value projects that engage the local community. Highlight any plans for workshops, public exhibitions, or community events.

9. Proofread and Refine

Make sure your proposal is free of errors. Have colleagues review it for clarity, ensuring that your artistic vision is communicated effectively.

10. Submit Early

Avoid last-minute submissions. Completing your application early allows time to review it and ensures you meet any technical submission requirements.

Jessica Singh

(647) 674-7627

logiclaneconsulting@gmail.com

Please note: This document is © Jessica Singh. Said material is for the individual use of presentation attendees within the context of their work. Do not post it online, republish it, sell it or use it for any other purpose, in whole or in part, without written permission from Jessica Singh.